

General Terms of Publication

1. Rights of authors

The following rights are retained by authors:

- Patent and trademark rights and rights to any process or procedure described in the article.
- The right to include the article in full or in part in a thesis or dissertation provided that this is not to be published commercially.
- The right to photocopy or make electronic copies of the article for their own personal use, including for their own classroom use, or for the personal use of colleagues, provided that the copies are not offered for sale and are not distributed in a systematic way outside of their employing institution (e.g. via an e-mail list).
- The right to retain a pre-print version of the article on an electronic public server.
- The right to post the final published version of the article on a secure network (not accessible to the public) within the author's institution.
- The right, subsequent to publication, to use the article or any part thereof, free of charge in a printed compilation of works of their own, such as collected writings or lecture notes.
- If the article is a 'work for hire' made within the scope of the author's employment, the employer may use all or part of the information in this article for intra-company use.
- The right to present the paper at a meeting or conference and to hand copies of the paper to the delegates attending the meeting.
- The right to prepare derivative works, with full acknowledgement to Elsevier.
- The right to extend the article into book-length form, with full acknowledgement to Elsevier.
- The right to re-use parts of the paper in other works, provided that the new work is not to be published commercially. For commercial publication, prior permission should be sought from Elsevier in writing.

All papers accepted for IFAC Proceedings are considered for subsequent publication in the IFAC journals and in other IFAC-affiliated journals. If the signing author has not been informed in writing within three months of the closing date of the conference that the paper is being so considered, he and his co-authors are free to submit the paper elsewhere, provided that full acknowledgement is given in any subsequent publication to the original IFAC Proceedings and to the conference.

All copies, paper or electronic, or other use of the information must include an indication of the copyright ownership and a full citation of the proceedings source.

2. Requests from third parties

Requests for all uses not included above, including the authorization of third parties to reproduce or otherwise use all or part of the article (including figures and tables), should be referred to the Elsevier Global Rights Department by going to our Web site at <http://www.elsevier.com/homepage/support/> and selecting 'Permissions'.

3. Author warranties

- The article you have submitted to the proceedings for review is original, has been written by the stated authors and has not been published elsewhere.
- The article is not currently being considered for publication by any other publication and will not be submitted for such review while under review by the proceedings.
- The article contains no libellous or other unlawful statements and does not contain any materials that violate any personal or proprietary rights of any other person or entity.
- You have obtained written permission from copyright owners for any excerpts from copyrighted works that are included and have credited the sources in your article.
- If the article was prepared jointly with other authors, you have informed the co-author(s) of the terms of this copyright transfer and that you are signing on their behalf as their agent, and represent that you are authorized to do so.

4. US Government employees

- If all co-authors are US Government employees there is no copyright to transfer. Please sign the form, to confirm the author warranties.
- If there is a number of co-authors, of which at least one is a US Government employee (and this work was prepared in such capacity) and at least one is not a government employee, the non-government author should sign this form, indicating transfer of those rights which such author has (also on behalf of any other non-government co-authors).

5. Crown Copyright

- UK Government employee authors may elect to transfer copyright.
- UK Government employees wishing to claim Crown Copyright should mark the appropriate box overleaf and sign the form to affirm the author warranties.
- The work of Canadian or Australian Government employees is automatically subject to Crown Copyright. Please mark the appropriate box and sign the form to affirm the author warranties.
- If there is a number of co-authors, of which at least one is claiming Crown Copyright and at least one is not an employee of the UK, Canadian or Australian Government, the non-government author should sign this form, indicating transfer of those rights which such author has (also on behalf of any other non-government co-authors).

6. Elsevier's AiP (Articles in Press) service

Elsevier may choose to publish an abstract or portions of the paper before we publish it in the proceedings. Please contact our Production department immediately if you do not want us to make any such prior publication for any reason, including disclosure of a patentable invention.
